PREFACE

While designing the book, our main intention was to create a book that would act as a single point of reference for students. We wanted this book to provide students, the much needed answers for their textual questions as well as build up their knowledge quotient in the process.

Std. X: History and Political Science has been prepared as per the new syllabus which is more child-centric and focuses on active learning along-with making the process of education more enjoyable and interesting. We have infused the book with historical timelines, concept maps, flowcharts, comprehension based questions and additional questions which are in line with the latest paper pattern. Questions titled under 'Do this', 'Think about it', 'Make a list', a series of 'In-text Questions', etc., pave the way for a robust concept building.

Every chapter begins with an Overview to facilitate quick understanding of the chapter. The book covers all the textual content in the Question-Answer format. It also includes a host of other Objective and Subjective type of questions. The chapter ends with a Chapter-wise Assessment that stands as a testimony to the fact that the child has understood the chapter thoroughly.

For the purpose of self-evaluation we have incorporated a Model Question Paper. We have provided a video that intend to explain the Paper Pattern as well as the Syllabus. The students may view it by scanning the QR Code provided.

With absolute trust in our work, we hope our holistic efforts towards making this book an ideal knowledge hub for students pay off.

The journey to create a complete book is strewn with triumphs, failures and near misses. If you think we’ve nearly missed something or want to applaud us for our triumphs, we’d love to hear from you.

Please write to us at: mail@targetpublications.org

A book affects eternity; one can never tell where its influence stops.

Best of luck to all the aspirants!

Gyan Guru (GG)

We present to you our very own mascot-'GG’, who has been proudly introduced by us. GG is a student-buddy who pops up throughout the book and draws your attention to important bits of knowledge also termed as 'Good to Know'. These ‘Good to Know’ sections help you understand a concept distinctly with a corresponding example from your immediate environment. This is our initiative that helps to link learning with life, thereby educating the students much more practically. We’re hopeful that you will love this initiative.

Apply Your Knowledge

1. Let us find out (Textbook page no. 54)

Apart from the types of tourism mentioned in paragraphs on page no. 53 and 54 of the textbook, there are other types like science tourism, leisure and relaxation tourism also known as wellness tourism, cultural tourism and group tourism, etc. Find more information about it with the help of the teachers and internet.

Ans:

i. Science Tourism:

Science tourism involves visiting and exploring scientific landmarks, including museums, laboratories, observatories and universities.

For e.g.:

The Jantar Mantar observatory at Jaipur, New Delhi, Ujjain, Mathura and Varanasi constructed in the early 18th century is visited by tourists.

Besides this, there are some scientific attractions belonging to the modern period. For e.g. Gujarat Science City is one of the best place for people to learn about science and the great people who contributed to the modern world.

Also, the Nehru Science Centre [NSC], located in Worli, Mumbai is the largest interactive science centre in India. It organises high quality science exhibits and other educational related programmes and activities. Similarly, at the Nehru Planetarium, special arrangements are made to watch, study and photograph Solar & Lunar eclipses. Telescopes are installed to watch these phenomena.

ii. Leisure and Relaxation Tourism:
Stepping outside of a busy lifestyle for releasing the stress or travelling during free time comes under ‘leisure and relaxation tourism’. It is also known as ‘Wellness tourism’.
For e.g. Relaxing on beaches or in a room or going on guided tours and experiencing local tourist attraction are some examples of this type of tourism.

iii. Cultural Tourism:
Cultural tourism includes activities like visiting educational institutes of repute; trying to get a glimpse of local culture, history & traditions; visiting historical monuments at a place; trying to appreciate the achievements of local people and also participating in the local festivals of dance, music, etc.
For e.g., Fairs and festivals are organised in Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh with the objective of promoting tourism. Tourists from different places come in large numbers to see these festivals.

iv. Group Tourism:
Travelling in groups is called as group tourism. Various tour and travel agencies organise group tours for people and take them to different tourist destinations in India and abroad.
In the latter half of the 19th century, the name of Thomas Cook is noteworthy in the context of group tourism. He organised a trip by railway from Leicester to Loughborough for about 600 people. Later, he successfully organised a round trip of Europe. Finally, he established a travel agency which sold tourist tickets. This early venture of Thomas Cook led to the development of modern tourism.
In modern times, package tourism which is a branch of group tourism is gaining popularity. Package tours are organised by a tour operator and sold to a consumer by a travel agent. Transport and accommodation are done by the tour operator.
